"Our devices and services transformation is progressing and we are launching a wide range of compelling products and experiences this fall for both business and consumers," said Steve Ballmer, chief executive officer at Microsoft. "Our new commercial services will help us continue to outgrow the enterprise market, and we are seeing lots of consumer excitement for Xbox One, Surface 2 and Surface Pro 2, and the full spectrum of Windows 8.1 and Windows Phone devices."

"We saw strong focus across our teams, generating record first-quarter revenue even as we navigate a fundamental business transition. Our enterprise renewals were very healthy and our devices and consumer business continued to improve," said Amy Hood, chief financial officer at Microsoft. "We are making strategic investments in areas like technological innovation, supply chain management, and global cloud operations to build for the future and create long-term shareholder value."

Devices and Consumer revenue grew 4% to $7.46 billion.

- Windows OEM revenue declined 7%; Windows Pro revenue grew for the second consecutive quarter.
- Surface revenue grew to $400 million with sequential growth in revenue and units sold over the prior quarter.
- Search advertising revenue grew 47% driven by an increase in revenue per search and volume.

Commercial revenue grew 10% to $11.20 billion.

- SQL Server revenue grew double-digits, with SQL Server Premium revenue growing more than 30%.
- Lync, SharePoint, and Exchange, our productivity server offerings, collectively grew double-digits.
- Commercial cloud revenue grew 103%.

"We continue to execute well across our businesses and we are seeing robust demand for our enterprise products and cloud services. Strong customer adoption of Office 365, Azure, and Dynamics CRM Online is accelerating our business transition to the cloud," said Kevin Turner, chief operating officer at Microsoft. "Our investments in SQL database platform, Hyper-V, System Center, and Lync are driving market share gains as these comprehensive solutions enable customers to increase their insight and efficiency."

Adjusted Financial Results and Non-GAAP Measures

For the first quarter of fiscal year 2014, GAAP revenue, operating income, and diluted earnings per share included the deferral of $113 million of revenue primarily related to Windows 8.1 Pre-sales. During the first quarter of fiscal year 2013, GAAP revenue, operating income, and diluted earnings per share included the deferral of $1.4 billion of revenue related to the Windows Upgrade Offer, Windows 8 Pre-sales, and Office Offer. These items are defined below. In addition to these financial results reported in accordance with GAAP, we have provided certain non-GAAP financial information to aid investors in better understanding the company's performance. Presenting these measures without the impact of these items gives additional insight into operational performance and helps clarify trends affecting the company's business. For comparability of reporting, management considers this information in conjunction with GAAP amounts in evaluating business performance. These non-GAAP financial measures should not be considered as a substitute for, or superior to, the measures of financial performance prepared in accordance with GAAP.
